Principal Reflects Pride In Edison

Friend, advisor, experimenter Mr. Cleveland is more than just a principal. Through his knowledge of students' names, and his awareness of their personalities and interests, respect for him has constantly grown. Seeking to improve the curriculum, Mr. Cleveland often called upon teachers to relate improved techniques and ideas. By following Mr. Cleveland's excellent example, students worked harder for their school and displayed friendliness and the desire to learn. Under his continued guidance, Edison can only reach greater heights, benefiting from Mr. Cleveland's broad knowledge.

Taking a break in a busy schedule, Mr. Cleveland relaxes by reading the Thomas Times.

Skilled in hunting, Mr. Cleveland checks his equipment.

Serving Tulsa Public Schools since 1944, Dr. Charles C. Mason has raised the standards of education in Tulsa and has done invaluable work as the chief administrator of the Tulsa School system.

Elected for three year terms, the members of the Board of Education work with hundreds of school administrators in keeping the curriculum of the schools up-to-date, and coordinating the schools toward common goals. These members are civic minded Tulsans who have a common concern for the education of today's youth.

Counselors Work For Students

Counselors relax while supporting the Edison football team.

Edison's counselling staff repeatedly gave advice, listened to excuses, and maintained an interest in the activities of busy Edisonites throughout the year. In junior high, Edison students became acquainted with the counselors, and learned that their assistance was a great help in keeping up with the fast-paced life at Edison. The guidance of the senior high counselors for college preparation aided many teenagers and eased the minds of many worried seniors. The entire counselling staff provided Edison students with a basis on which they can plan a successful future.

Mr. Donald Hoopert assumed many responsibilities as senior high assistant principal. His duties included planning a flexible curriculum interesting to all the students, in addition to heading the guidance and program staff.

Assistant principal in the junior high, Mr. Forrest Towry continued to raise the standards of classes and activities. Through careful planning of student's schedules, they were even better prepared to accept new challenges set by accelerated studies.

Unseen Tasks Add To

Keeping up with cumulative records, Mr. Hoopert notes a student's progress.

Not only a hard worker, Mr. Hoopert is a friend to students.

Business concerning the junior high is frequent conversation between Mr. Towry and Mrs. Winnie McClain

Assistant Principals' Load

Even after school, Mr. Forrest Towry finds time to visit with students.

At the Vocational Technical Center, concentrated courses in specialized fields supplemented the basic curriculum of the nine public Tulsa high schools. Classes were conducted in order to prepare students who were seeking employment immediately after graduation from high school. Courses in photography, cosmetology, power- mechanics, and commercial art were a few of the many in which interested students were able to excel. This year the Vocational Technical Center opened a new post-graduate study facility.

Taking blood pressure is one of the practices to be learned by girls wishing to become medical assistants.

Specialized Skills Inspire Trainees

In electronics courses at the Vocational Technical Center, boys are offered the opportunity to work with advanced electronic equipment.

Computers are wired for processing by students at the Vocational Technical Center.

Increased studies in Shakespeare, not only in the honors classes but also in regular classes broadened Edison students' appreciation of the famed playwright. Sophomores studied Twelfth Night and Julius Caesar, as traditional study of Macbeth for juniors and Hamlet for seniors continued. Actual production of two Shakespearean plays were seen when the National Shakespeare Company appeared at Edison in February, performing Romeo and Juliet and Twelfth Night. Vocabulary and grammar exercises continued to prepare students for proper use of the English language.

Edison's Speech Department emphasized poise and confidence in public speaking as well as the ability to express oneself. Diction, precise enunciation, polished techniques and voice projection were only a few of the qualities taught to speech students.

Extra hours of practice and concentrated study have produced the renowned Music Department at Edison. The talented vocal and instrumental groups which make up this department harmoniously reflect the instruction and inspiration of their teachers.

Travels Promote World Understanding

Memories from last summer's trip to France are recalled as Miss Vivian Orms plans to continue study there this summer.

Foreign languages at Edison ranged from Latin to French, Spanish and finally German. With more and more students traveling to different countries, knowledge of a second language became a must. Through the help of the various instructors and the organization of language clubs, a new insight was gained, furthering understanding between countries. Students found that learning a language was much more than the conjugation of verbs or the memorizing of vocabulary. It was the knowledge of the people, their traditions and their customs which made learning new languages constantly different and exciting.

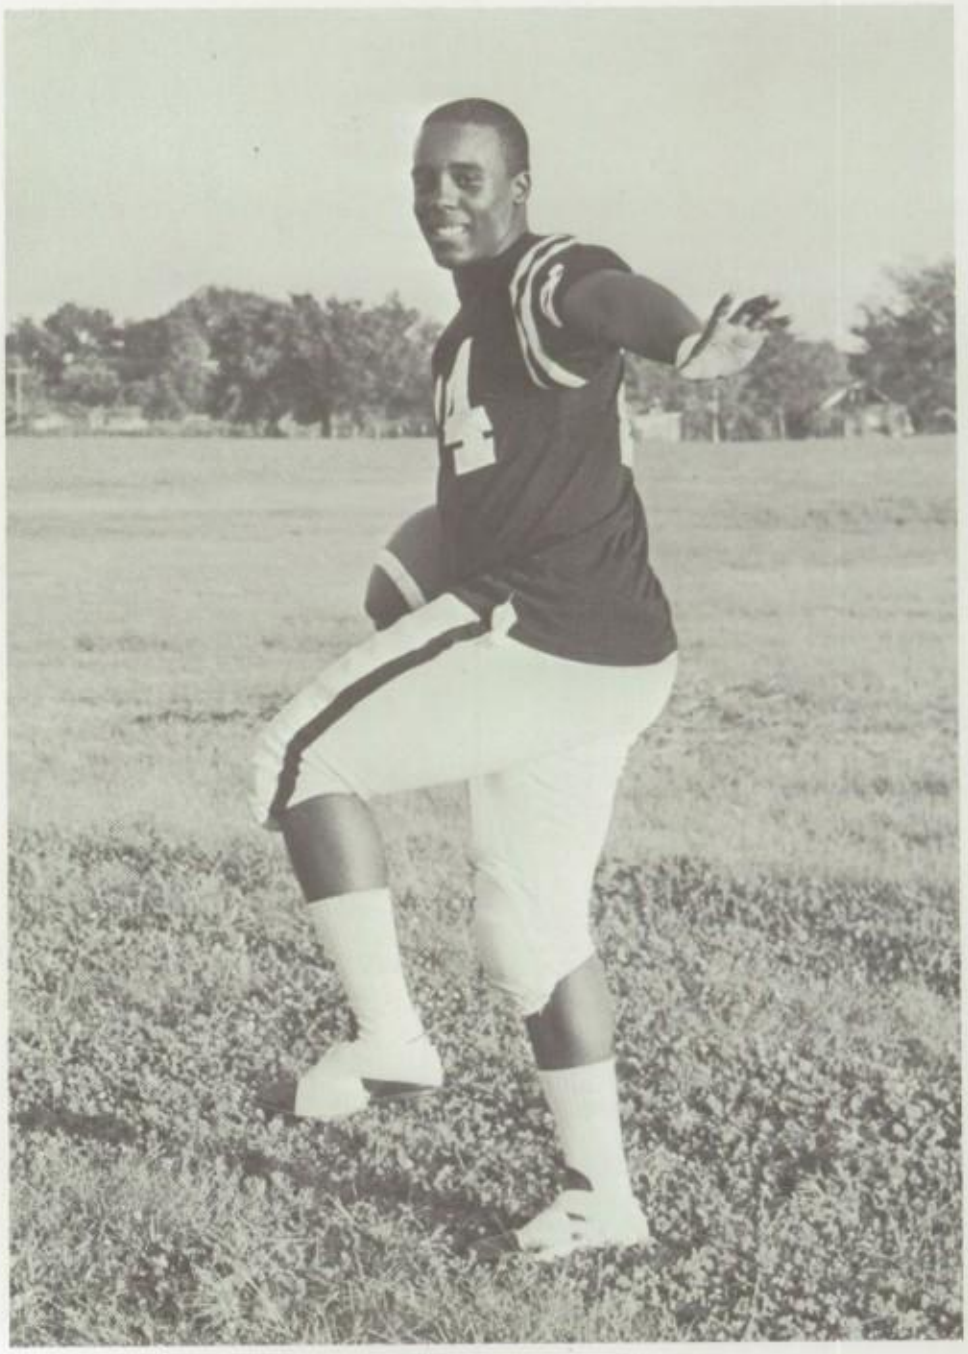
Mathematical Concepts Set Foundations

Whether merely interested or definitely mathematically minded, students at Edison were presented with a myriad of thought provoking math courses. These courses, ranging from basic algebra and geometry through the intricacies of trigonometry and calculus, have gratified the majority of enthusiastic students. For those who felt the need for more mathematical activity, Jr. High Math Club and Mu Alpha Theta met on Tuesday afternoons examining new concepts in mathematics.



Practice for the Tulsa Thunderbirds proves rougher than geometry for Mr. Melvin Driver.

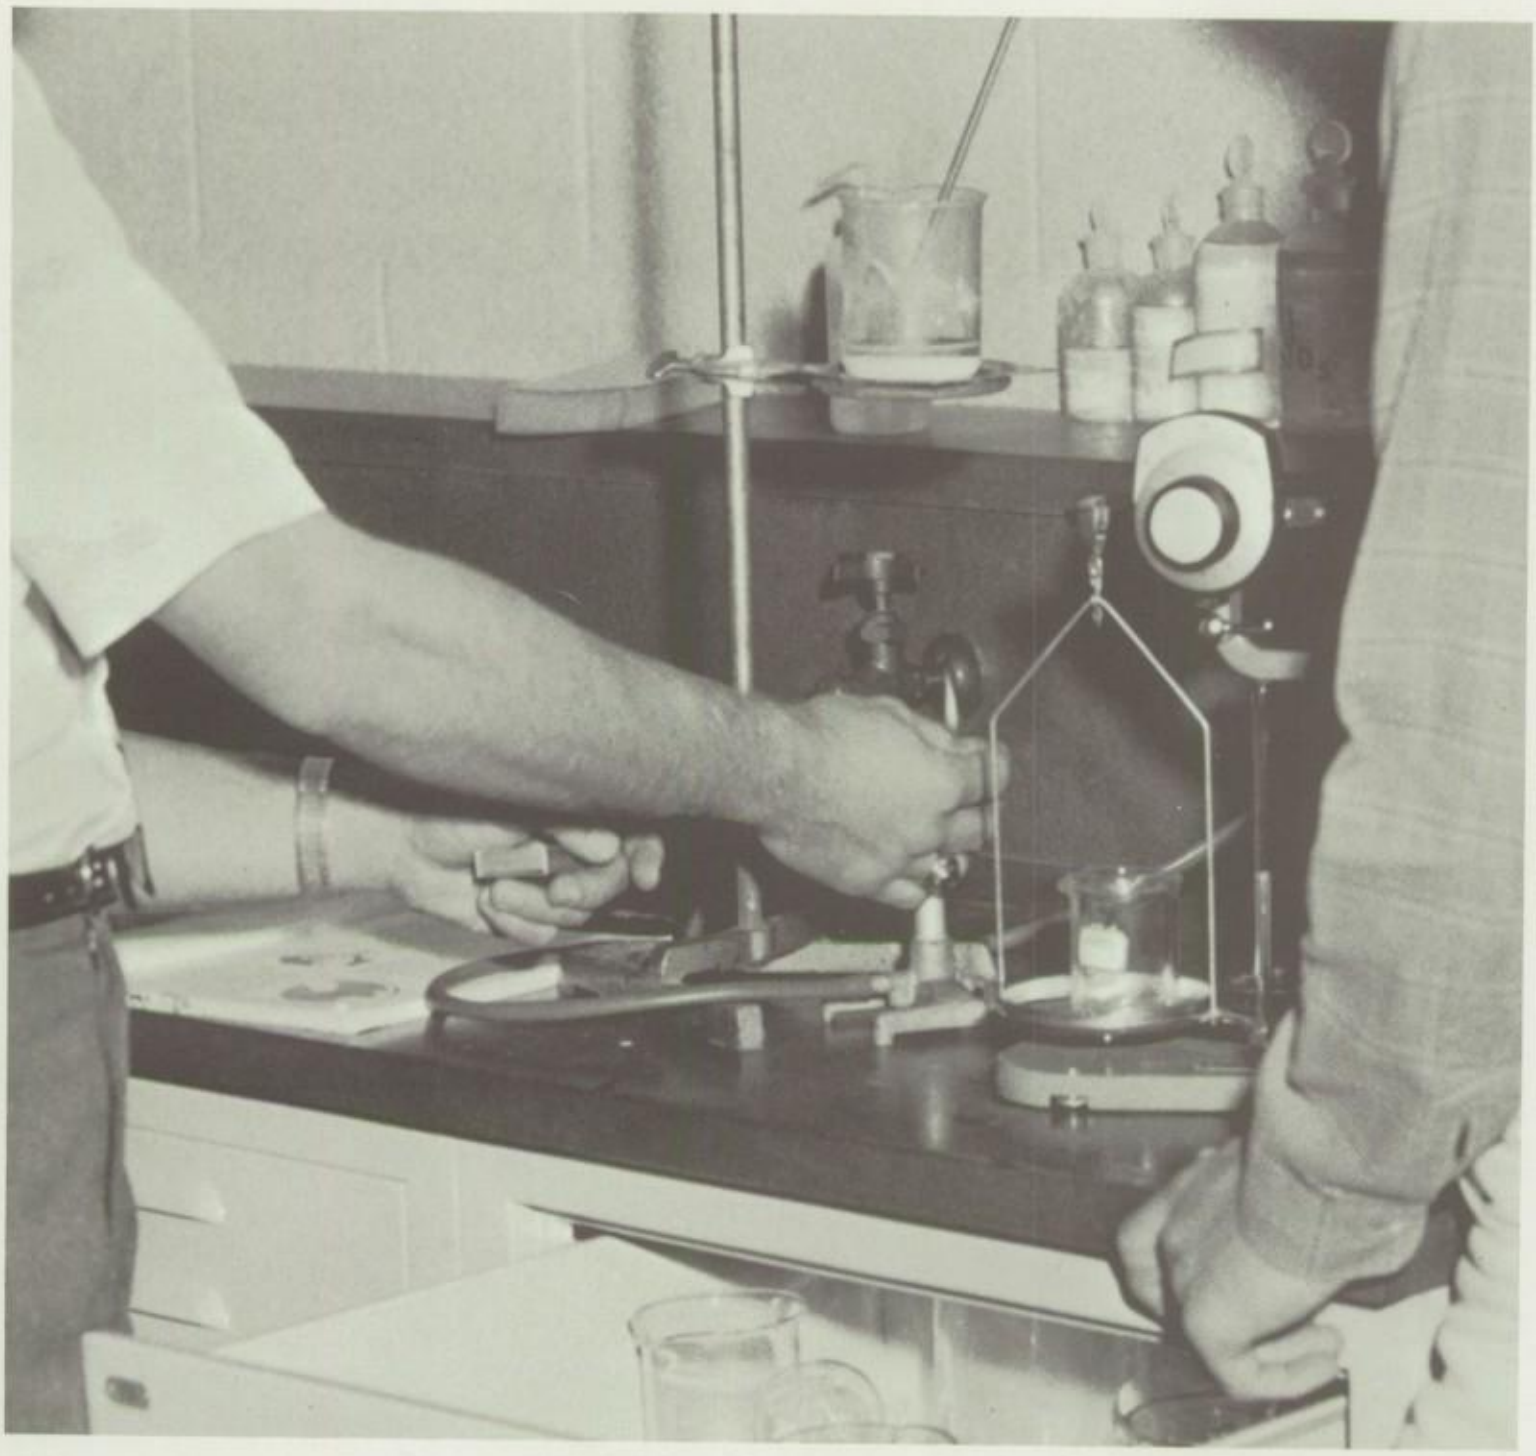
Courses In Science Lead To Discovery

In our modern and technological world, it is necessary for students to be acquainted with the sciences to become aware individuals. Edison's science curriculum provided excellent opportunities for acquiring this knowledge through its abundant supply of textbooks, up-to-date laboratory equipment and outstanding teachers. Discussion and experimentation in Edison's classrooms aroused interest and eagerness to learn this vital segment of one's education.

Correct procedure for experiments is shown to students by Mr. Bob Sanderson.



Precision in experiments is required for accurate results.

Social Studies Trains Tomorrow's Ambassadors

The Social Studies Department, comprised of history, civics, government, economics, and geography classes, informed students of the occurrences of yesterday and the concepts of today throughout the world. Capable instructors plus the newest visual aids allowed students to grasp the basic principles of these pertinent fields. Only through an understanding of the past can individuals prosper as citizens of tomorrow.

Construction of a sports coat by Wendy Barnes often presents problems that can be solved by Mrs. Frances Smith.

Enabling students to pursue fields pertaining to their interests, classes in industrial arts, homemaking and art were offered at Edison. Practical application allowed individuals to meet their needs, interests and abilities in a classroom atmosphere. Technological job skills in electricity, welding, wood and metal work, and auto mechanics were taught while a wide variety of homemaking courses prepared future homemakers.

Competitive Athletics Increase Skill

With the aim of complete body coordination uppermost in mind, the student body excelled in the varied aspects of sports through the expert handling of the physical education department. Introduced were many new exercise techniques combined with the standard training in exercise, team sports, and swimming. Business Students Prepare For Future

Through everyday application of skills, and modern office machinery, students became better acquainted with the opportunities and advantages of a career in business by instructors at Edison. Courses in office machines, business education, typing, shorthand and notehand were taught. For the first time, Law Club for interested business law students was organized, and served not only to make learning a more enjoyable experience, but proved to be an asset to Edison's expanding curriculum.

Asking the opinion of Mr. Mike Harris, business law instructor, Bruce Ross questions the outcome of a case.

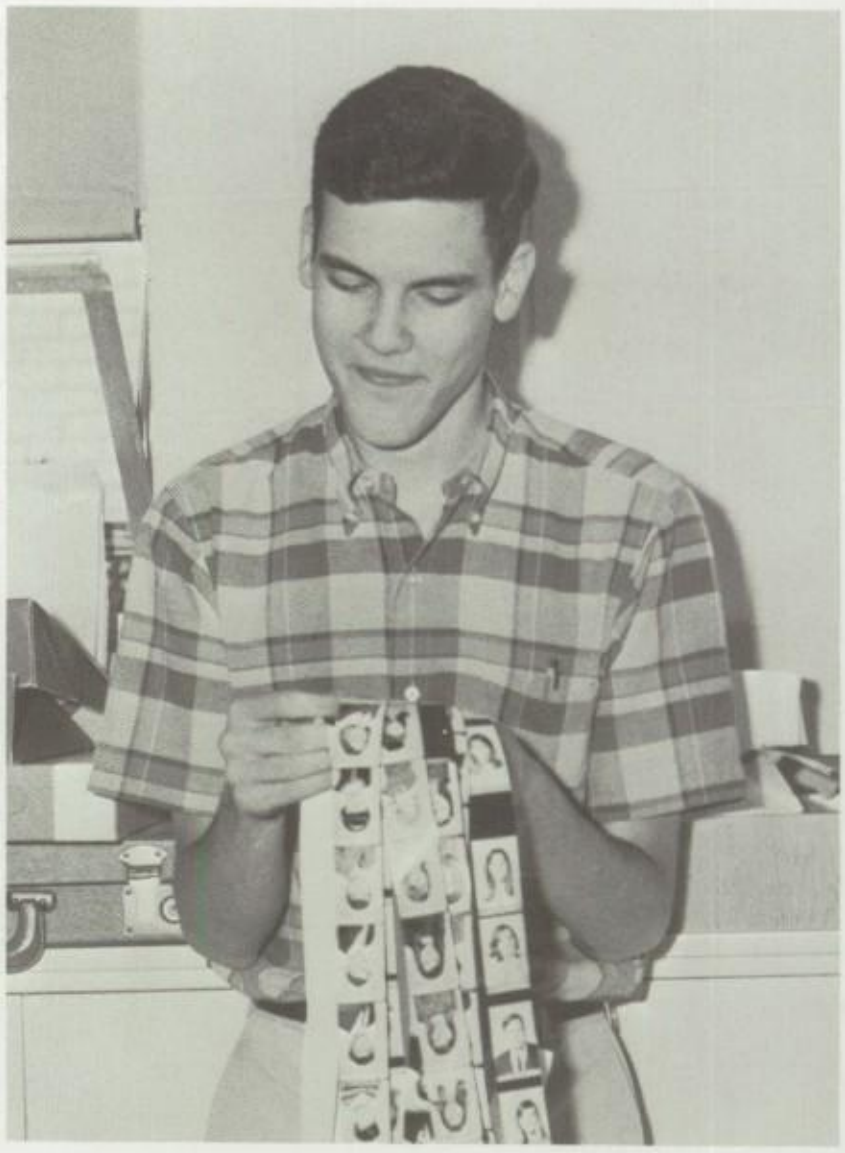
"Torch" Ignites With New Ideas

Seemingly endless copy, deadlines, sorting pictures, and rearranging layouts formed the basis of the 1968 Torch. More candid pictures, white space and less formal lay-out patterns were initiated this year for a new look. From hazy and vague notions, from individual ideas and unrelated concepts, the Torch staff molded this volume to a form which is a monument to Edison High School. Two hundred and fifty-six pages do not seem like many at a glance, but much time, energy and imagination went into each one. The staff along with Editor Eric Nelson, Business Manager Nancy Adkison, and Sponsor Mrs. June Richey are proud to be able to carry on the traditions of Edison High School.

The doubtful duo, Patti Tschappat and Eleanor Weisman deliberate over lay-outs.



Identification of pictures is usually a dull job, but Walter Lamb seems to relish the work.

The team of Susan Morgan, Pat Stanfield, Peggy Cantrell and Chuck Hickok attack another deadline.

"Thomas Times" Is A

Journalism added a new and important facet to Edison this year. The journalism staff published the THOMAS TIMES on a regular basis for the first time. Layout design was particularly stressed and many new items were added to the expanded paper. Among the new additions were book and record reviews, a public opinion poll, and increased junior high coverage. While assembling the school's newspaper and contributing to the school life, the new members of the staff gained valuable on-the-job training.

Journalism staff members decorate Mrs. Richey's Christmas tree.

Sharon Turney, Marilyn Musser, Nancy Adkison Paula Frederick, David Goldish, Caren Cates, Jim Mixon, Mike Burg, Ken Harwood, and Carole Pence prepare layouts for THOMAS TIMES.

Editor Vicki Phillips and Junior High Editor Randy Wills review the THOMAS TIMES.

Major Success

Caren Cates and Sally Martin make paste-ups for the latest edition of the THOMAS TIMES.

Marilyn Grossbard, Kathy Mixon, Nancy Harnden, Gary Bonner, Sandra Steele, Wendy Hale, Carol Mantooth, Virginia Bougher, and Paul Peters meet a deadline for SCHOOL LIFE.

Gathered around the Swedish flag, Bill Martin, Marilyn Musser, Chris Carter and Christy Mims reminisce about the past summer.

Twelve Experimenters Go Abroad

Pictures and memories are all that remain of the Experiment in International Living Program of 1967. Twelve students were selected to participate and travel to Europe. Four students, Chris Carter, Bill Martin, Marilyn Musser and Christy Mims spent the summer in Sweden. Edison's ambassadors to Italy were Gwen McAdams and Gloria Renfrow, while Jill Lambeth and Janet Hudson enjoyed the customs of Holland. David Cockrell went to Spain and Pam Wheeler stayed in Great Britain. The two experimenters in Austria were Vicki Ihrig and LaVunn Wilson. International travel has brought the understanding of foreign relationships closer to Edison.

Reenacting an old custom of Italy, Gloria Renfrow and Gwen McAdams toss coins in a fountain.

Experimenters David Cockrell and Pam Wheeler wish for a return to Spain and Great Britain.

Experiment students, Jill Lambeth and Janet Hudson compare flowers to the ones they saw in Holland.

Vicki Ihrig and LaVunn Wilson model the familiar attire of their summer homes in Austria.

Jackie Finds Tulsa Much Like Home

Hungrily, Jackie attacks a corndog, one of our American delicacies.

Tulsa became the ten month home for Jackie Jalaguier, a native of Ales, France, as she participated in the AFS program. Vicki Graf, her American sister, has helped Jackie in her successful efforts to become a true Edisonite. Jackie participated in Medical Club, French Club and Pep Club, and she was a member of Student Council and Senior Board. Jackie also passed the examinations necessary for her to enter college next year at the University of France. Her ambition is to become a neurosurgeon.

At the foreign exchange reception Jackie smiles at our Edison slang.

Jackie carries on the familiar tradition of decorating the Christmas tree.

Mark Singer demonstrates the age-old custom of bobbing for apples to his Brazilian brother, Mike Burg.

Different Customs Interesting To Brazilian

Mike Burg, American Field Service representative from Sao Paulo, Brazil, resided at the home of Mark Singer. From the moment he arrived, Mike played an important part in school life through his participation in Key Club, Student Council, Senior Board and sixth hour athletics. Mike was also a member of the journalism staff. Upon his return to Brazil, Mike will finish his high school education. He will then enter a university for further study and a major in architecture.

As a member of Key Club, Mike recruits customers for the sale of Edison Callings.

"Let there be peace on earth, and let it begin with me," is discussed by Representative Curtis Lawson at the Brotherhood Breakfast.

Edison Week Provides A Break From The Books

Balloons sailing over the school and the flag raising ceremony began Edison Week 1968. Activities of the week were outlined in a short assembly. A tea honored teachers on Education Day. The traditional film, "Edison, The Man", was shown to all sophomores and students new to Edison. State Representative, Curtis L. Lawson, addressed the Brotherhood Breakfast and a bowling tournament was held on Brotherhood Day. New events for Thomas Edison Day included an invention contest and a pool tournament. At the annual gridiron show numerous original films and skits were presented. Friday's Superlative Assembly honored Superlatives and was highlighted by the crowning of Mr. Edison VIII, Kent Francy.

Cheerleaders Arouse School Spirit

SOPHOMORES: Ellen Friedman, Stephanie Eley, Suzanne Knarr.

The 1967-68 Cheerleaders, along with sponsor Mrs. Laurann Rogers, generated spirit throughout the school with their overwhelming enthusiasm and congenial personalities. These nine girls combined their untiring efforts to raise money for clinic and attractive new uniforms through various fund-raising projects. Some of the projects included a rummage sale, the sale of spirit buttons, green and white beanies, and car antenna identifiers, and the Mr. S.L.O.B. contest. Mr. S.L.O.B. of 1968, Mark Singer, was presented to the student body by Captain Jane Fredenberger in the winter sports assembly in January. The Edison Cheerleading Squad proved its outstanding skill in cheering ability when they received top honors at the University of Oklahoma Cheerleading Clinic in November.

At the conclusion of a cheer, precise form is exhibited in the "fight formation."

Students Voice Opinions Through

Through a combination of traditional and unprecedented projects, Student Council unified the student body and administration. An orientation workshop for members was held to introduce plans for the year. CARE-Can Another Record at Edison—was the key word for the November Canned Goods Drive, which netted 26,000 cans. In December the Christmas Post Office was in operation; holiday candles were sold; and a Christmas party was taken to a small school near Okmulgee. January was the month of planning; February saw the results—Edison Week. Instilling in the student body a feeling of devotion and pride in the school, that exciting week was the highlight of the year. During the spring, the Council ended the year's activities with the High School Bowl, and Olympics.

Senior girls comprising Usherettes devoted many hours towards fulfilling the obligations of the service organization by assisting at teacher's meetings, back-to-school nights, and the National Honor Society initiation. In addition to ushering at the Tulsa Little Theater every month, the group gave a party for patients at Tulsa County Hospital during the Christmas season.

Selling, ushering and stamping provided Key Club members with the opportunity to support the school and community. Sponsored by the Utica Square Kiwanis Club, they ushered at school plays, worked at all home athletic events, and sold advertising for the KRMG Radio Day in December.

Pep Club Boosts School Loyalty

Eager faces reflect tense moments at the games.

A larger, more spirited pep club opened with a rousing pep rally at summer football practice. Officers and squad leaders sponsored a membership drive, as members sold spirit ribbons, decorated halls, locker rooms, and showcases in addition to encouraging football players on to victory at the game.

Talons' activities continued with winter sports. Girls made name tags to honor athletes and to recognize their participation in the sports program. Sandwiches were sold during weekend tournaments to replenish the club's funds.

Through their efforts, pep club succeeded in upholding the tradition of boosting school spirit, and making this year's sports season unforgettable.

Outstanding Athletes Honored By Lettermen's Club

President Bill Mitchell introduces the speakers at the Lettermen's Club banquet.

Lettermen's Club gave recognition to several of the outstanding athletes who excelled in one of the nine varsity sports. By selling five hundred dollars worth of tickets to Tulsa's first high school All Star game, they contributed generously to the R. W. Knight Scholarship Fund. During the Christmas season, members collected toys in the Toys for Tots program. In three banquets during the year, lettermen were honored for the sports in which they participated. Lettermen constructed a new trophy case and a marquee that displayed the current sports' schedule.

Swimettes Splash In Sugar

Advanced splashing and barracudas were two techniques that Swimettes fit into their daily schedule. Their swimming abilities enabled them to perform intricate synchronized swimming stunts. Under the direction of Miss Houston, sixth hour and after-school practice prepared girls for their annual show, this year entitled "Sugar 'n Spice." To raise money for their costumes and props the group made and sold spirit bracelets and buttons throughout the year. In the spring tryouts were held for new members; and they concluded their activities with a festive picnic.

Students Create Diverse Productions

Since their organization in 1958, Thespian Troupe 14 has promoted dramatics at the high school level. Selling tickets to the Shakespearean plays, presented in February by the National Shakespeare Company, was the primary event of the year. The Thespians also entertained numerous clubs and churches with their skits and plays.

Stagecraft members, working behind the scenes at assemblies and other productions, created all staging effects. Members constructed scenery, operated the lighting equipment, and built sets. Mr. David Crowell, technical director, and the stage crew produced many fine programs.

Varied Activities Keep Council Busy

Knowledge of student government and experience in leadership were chief factors learned through an abundance of activities. Yearly projects such as the Edison Calling, Teacher Appreciation Day and the Brotherhood Breakfast constituted the basic projects. To finance the purchase of a portable microphone and amplifier, the Council sponsored a candy bar sale, a movie, and Valentine and Christmas post offices. During the Toys for Tots Drive, all junior high students worked together to collect over 5,000 toys for distribution to underprivileged children by the Salvation Army and Marine Corps.

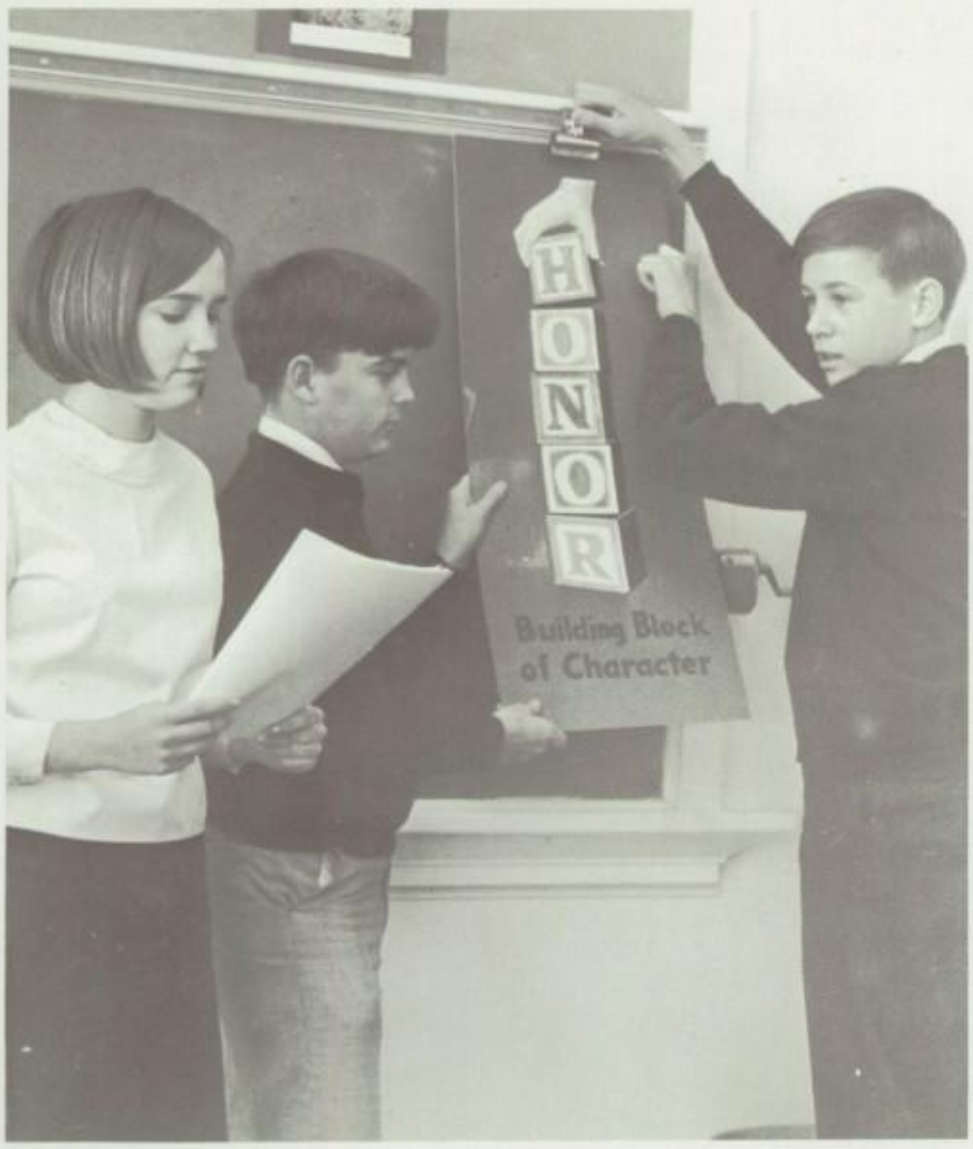
Honor Commission Instills Integrity



Commission members, Sandra Putnam, Blaine Henshaw and Dick Attaway stress the meaning of honesty.

In the spring of 1967, new initiates of the Honor Commission were informed that the purpose was to uphold the goal of achieving personal integrity within students. Activities planned for the year included ushering at Back-to-School night and assisting with decorations and concessions at the ninth grade dance. An annual Honor Commission assembly was held in January, encouraging the student body to prepare to accept the demanding responsibilities of good citizenship in and out of school.

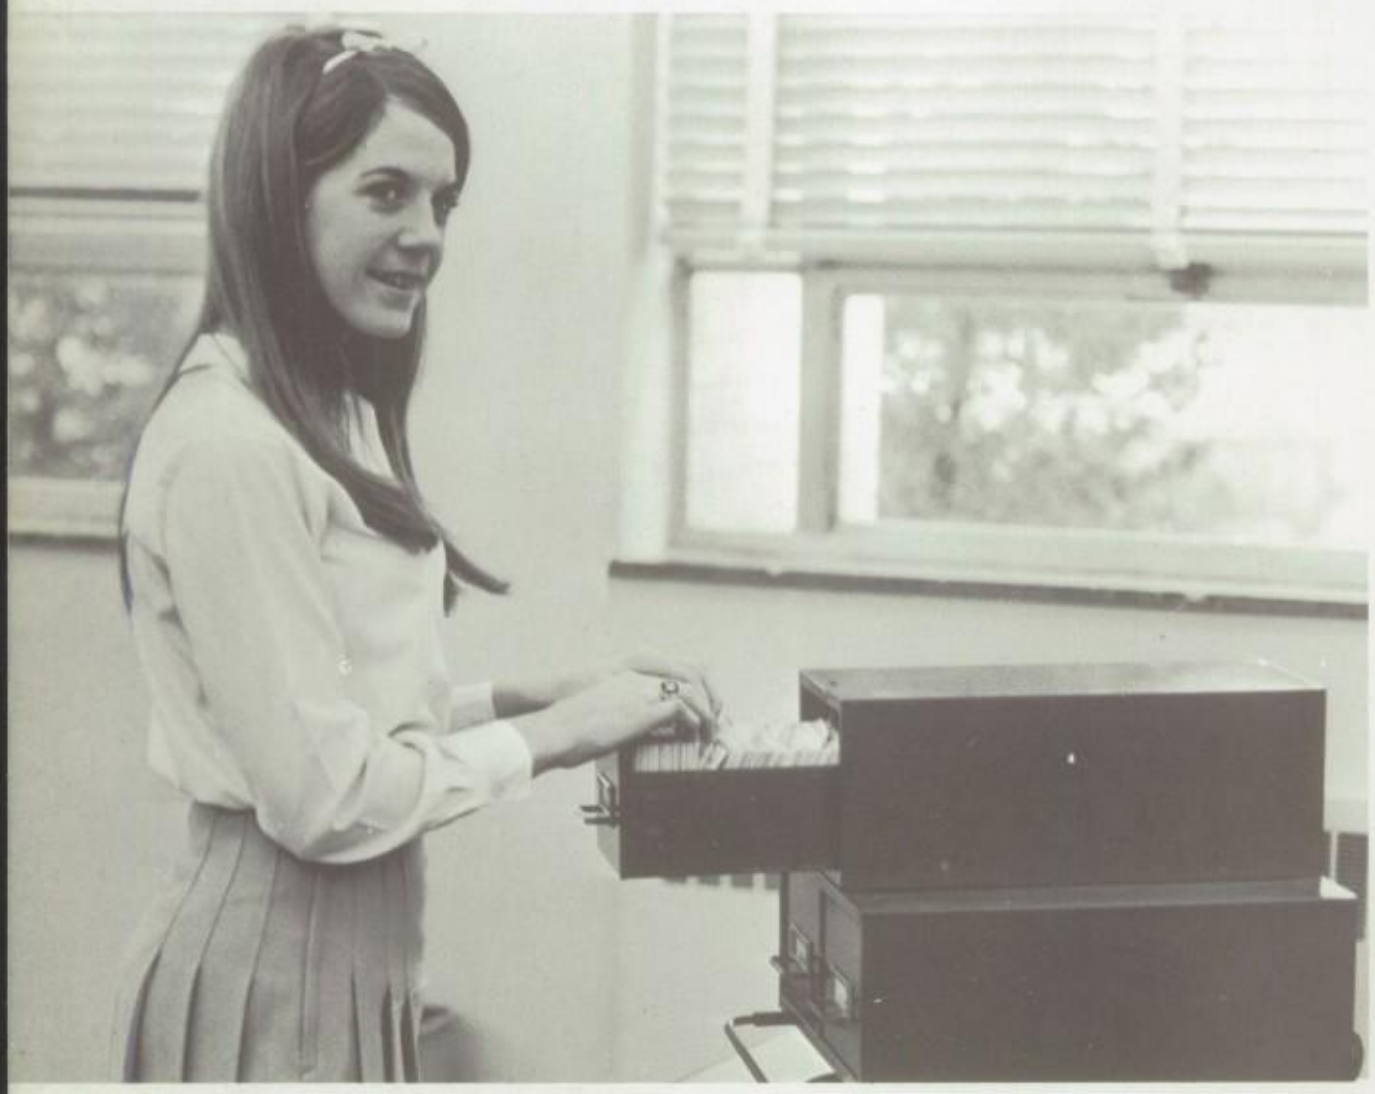
Aquillas Serve As Assistants To Teachers, Counselors,



Filing is tedious and any distraction is welcomed by Debbie Roberts.

Serving Edison by working in the library, main office, counselors' offices, nurse's office, and as teachers' aides, Aquillas were the liaison between faculty, students, and organizations in the junior high. These ninth grade girls ushered at plays, concerts, and at back-to-school night. Showing their appreciation of the administration, they sponsored a faculty tea in December. They assisted Student Council with the Toys for Tots drive, and Red Cross with the TET Kit project. Throughout the year, Aquillas provided a tutoring service for every student who wanted help in any particular subject.

Beneficial projects sponsored by the Junior and Senior High Red Cross enabled the school to participate in community charity activities. The November enrollment week allowed Edison to contribute to the city-wide Red Cross Drive. The junior high raised money through candy and bake sales to support a Korean boy, Chung Yung Ho. An original fund-raising method was devised in the senior high. A psychedelic poster shop and shoe polishing services received support from the entire student body.

School Services And Two Music Scholarships Mark K-Club

Three days before school, the K-Club began its activities by helping teachers prepare for classes. They were guides for seventh graders on the first day of school and for parents on Back-to-School night. Sponsored by the Utica Square Kiwanis Club, members sold tickets to the pancake day on November 3, the proceeds of which provided clothes for the underprivileged children in the Tulsa area. The twenty-five members financed two one semester scholarships which furnished private music instruction for outstanding Junior High musicians.

Junior high French Club officers pause around a French-style fountain.

Emphasis on the observance of French customs and informal speaking of the language provided the focal point for the activities of the French clubs. Interest was added to the senior high meetings by the singing of French songs taught by A.F.S. student Jackie Jalaguier, and by making a field trip to visit the exhibition of the work of the French impressionists at Philbrook Art Center. The clubs held continental breakfasts serving croissants and brioches. In January the senior high club celebrated Twelfth Night, a traditional French holiday. At the end of the year, both clubs gave a French dinner for all members.

Instruments Resound In Accord With Tradition

Excellence, determination, concentration, and perfection resulted in a successful instrumental music department. Many awards and honors were proof of the unique musical abilities at Edison.

All bands and orchestras defended last year's state championships. At Brownwood, Texas, the stage band was awarded the title Outstanding Stage Band. Selections from their coronation and midwinter concerts were included in the eighth annual recording of The Screaming Eagles.

The well known marching band stepped out in new uniforms. An especially talented Edisonite, Robert Krumme, was chosen as one of two All-Americans from Oklahoma to march in Macy's Thanksgiving Parade.

Junior High Instrumental Department strived to learn techniques of their respective instruments.

On behalf of the band, David White presents a token of appreciation to Mr. Alexander.

Excellent music, Big Ed, E-formation, and new uniforms plus white hats typify the champs.

"Open those mouths, don't slouch," and "higher," were familiar sounds echoing through the vocal music departments. Through instructions such as these, Edison's groups achieved excellent reputations.

Many civic and state organizations heard the senior high Concert Chorus perform. Highlights of the year were an appearance in Tulsa Opera's production of "Don Pasquade" and a trip to New York City where they presented a concert at the famous Riverside Church.

Participation in the city wide choral festival sponsored by Tulsa Public Schools provided experience for the Girl's Glee Club and Mixed Chorus. They also performed in the annual spring concert. The Junior High choral departments practiced diligently to achieve group perfection. Outstanding girls were given the opportunity to participate in the Girl's Ensemble.

Mr. Sowell's hands and expression show the musical mood in which the Chorus must sing.

YOUTH '68: WE SALUTE YOU

Football Foes Fall

With Bob Farris the only returning starter, Coach Richard Chapman was faced with a massive rebuilding program for the 1967-68 year.

According to pre-season ratings, the Eagles were referred to as the Big "Green" Bird with clipped wings.

A team with as much determination and spirit as Edison's did not take this slash lightly and the unfortunate Memorial Chargers were the first to feel our talons. In one of the most spirited games of the season, an unknown sophomore earned his place on the team and a nickname too. "Golden toe" alias Steve Goldberg kicked a field goal over the Chargers' heads to make the final score 17-14.

Tri-captains George Brown, Bill Mitchell, and Chuck Patterson banded together to lead the team to a final 6-3 season. Victories over Memorial, Central, Rogers, McLain, Bartlesville and Muskogee climaxed an outstanding season.

TOM LANGHAM
HEAD COACH

Harry Brighton exhibits Edison's respected defense as he throws an opponent for a loss.

JAMES PATTON
ASSISTANT COACH

After the loss of the majority of last year's squad, the Cross Country team had to rely on a very few experienced runners. The original optimistic hopes for the team dissolved into a rather disappointing 2-2 season. Through the leadership and skill of seniors John Musgrove and Gary Pickens and talented junior Robert Monhollen, they placed fourth in the Rogers and OBU invitational meets, fifth at OSU, seventh in the Edison meet, eighth in the OSSAA meet and second in Oklahoma Conference.

Although in actual competition it was not a particularly outstanding season, Coach Pierce instilled in each member a sense of pride and determination. Overcoming such obstacles as inexperience produced a team with unmatchable spirit, energy, and dedication.

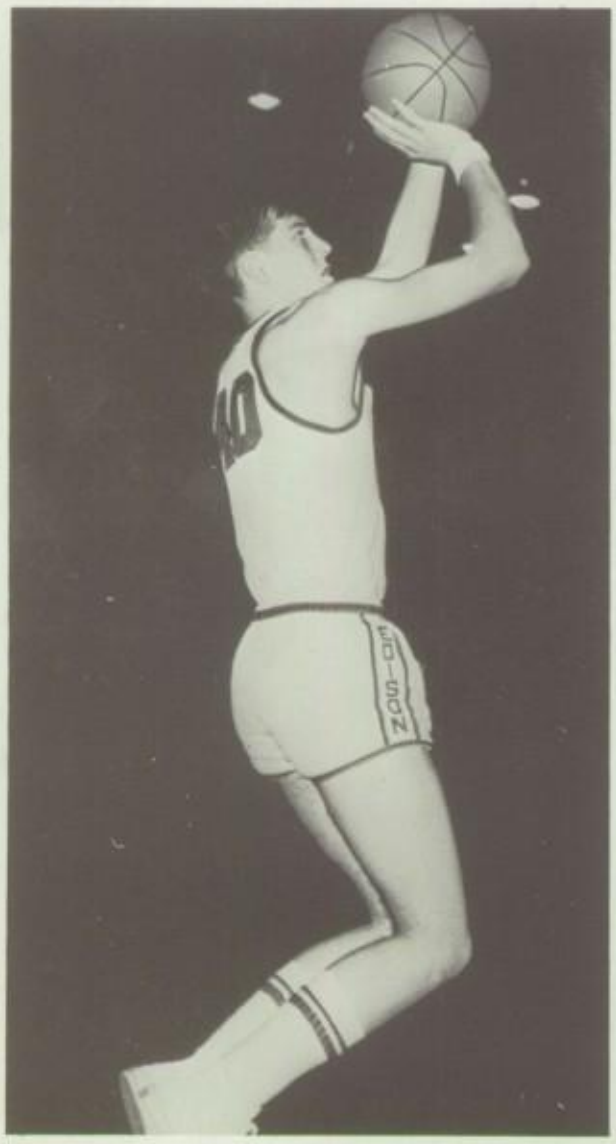
Edison Cagers Face Tough Season

Coach Larry Rentfro's basketballers were grounded for most of the 1968 season. Inexperience resulted in the 2-19 record. One returning letterman, Eric Mueller, senior Jim Young, juniors Jimmy Ritter and Danny Stevens and sophomore Bill Burns composed the starting five for Edison. Coach Rentfro relied heavily on the scoring potential of senior Eric Mueller who chalked up a 16 point average to sustain Eagle offense.



Eric Mueller goes up for a basket.

Eagle matmen wrestled their way to a 3-6 season in 1967-68. Although they began with two wins, they fell in matches with Rogers, Putnam City, Central and Hale. However, victories over Muskogee and Bartlesville assured Edison of fifth place in the Oklahoma Seven Conference. A non-conference victory, but just as important to Eagle fans, was the 21-19 win over Memorial.

Under the direction of co-captains Greg Riggs and Danny Murphree and new head coach Ray Nunneley, the wrestlers worked out every day in an attempt to produce an outstanding team. There were many outstanding individuals. Danny Murphree, Dennis Vincent and Greg Riggs placed in the top four in the regional meet and qualified for the state meet. Due to injuries, Greg Riggs had to give up his state place to Beau Jennings, junior standout. Murphree went on to win the state tournament title.

Edison Tankmen Edge Memorial For All-City First Place

Swimming is a lonely pursuit. A swimmer cannot hear the cheers and applause during his battle against time, the opponent, and himself. A swimmer is isolated by the pounding splashes, his physical and mental strife, and his determination to better his opponent. Although the swimmer is isolated, he is rewarded by his own pride in achievement which the swimmers at Edison have worked for and earned. Their long hours of strenuous physical conditioning and extra efforts have, again, upheld the Edison record of athletic excellence. Under the coaching guidance of Tom Langham, the 1967-68 Eagle swimmers earned second place in their Oklahoma Seven Conference and captured first place in All-City competition. Major contributions were supplied by senior tankmen Doug Hill, Roger Mason, Steve Hall, Clint Wade, and Wes Miller. Returning divers were Dirk Bischoff and Chuck Selman.

Teammates congratulate David Bond after an exhausting effort.

Doug Hill and Clint Wade start with a noticeable lead on their opponent in their backstroke heat.

Discus thrower Randy Grigor shows off his form.

Determination characterizes Steve Bennett as he puts the shot.

Running warm-up laps before practice are George Brown, Steve Reinhard, John Musgrove, Bruce Wilson and Gary Pickens.

Rain and snow provided a few respites from after-school practices for the 1968 track team. Consequently, Coaches Hugh Pierce and Richard Chapman resorted to Saturday pre-season workouts. Despite these weather problems, the team had hopes for an outstanding season and the conference and state crowns.

The team made good showings in intersquad duals. Distance runners John Musgrove, Gary Pickens and Robert Monhollen and sprinters George Brown, Kent Francy and Don Harris were outstanding in the track events. Pole vaulter Joel Malahy, shot putter Steve Bennett and discus thrower Rancy Grigor led in the field events.

Baseball Team Looks For First Place In

Edison's baseball team entered the spring season with a long tradition of success to its credit. Working under the guidance of head coach Don Phillips, the Eagles looked forward to furthering an already outstanding record. Such formidable opponents as the Nathan Hale Rangers provided an ample challenge to the team's skill. With the added experience of the 1967 team coupled with this year's new talent, Edison was determined to improve its record and remain a strong power in state high school baseball.

Randy Christian fires a hard ball home.

Edison Linksmen Improve Strokes

Junior golfer Tony Mirkin sends a drive down the fairway toward another victory.

Standing as title holders of All-City, the Edison golfers practiced diligently to hold this position in 1968. Under the instruction of Coach Joe Kiger, the experienced core of Eagle linksmen showed great possibilities.

The squad returned seniors Jim Steinmeyer, Pat May, Larry Bookman, Ken Fowler, and Roger Booth. Backed with a score of prospective juniors, this year's team will promote several veterans to next year's squad. After compiling an impressive record this year, the Edison golf team looks forward to a prosperous season next year as well.

Golf Varsity: Coach Joe Kiger, Gary Baldwin, Sam Rhoades, Tony Mirkin, Warren Hultgren, Robert Woodward, Tracy Galloway, Lee Levinson, Eric Mueller, Ken Fowler, Pat May, Roger Booth, Steve Conard, Scott Powers, Stan Smith, Joe Gwartney.

Eagle Netmen Strive To Hold Title

Defending their All-City championship title, the Edison netmen negotiated another stellar season. The tennis team worked hard to perfect their already proficient techniques.

Spurred on by returning senior letterman Bill Martin the team compiled an outstanding record in their rigorous schedule of matches. The excellence of the team was magnified by the fact that only a few were lost at graduation, leaving a squad of capable veterans to return next year.

YOUTH '68: WE SALUTE YOU

Mr. John Butts, senior class sponsor, is affable, amiable

Energetic Leaders Guide

On the 23 of May, 1968, six hundred seniors formally graduated from Edison Senior High School. Reviewing the year's activities, the spirit-building senior picnic was the first to come to mind, followed by a most successful presentation of the class play, Good-bye, My Fancy. After a tremendous Canned Goods Drive, the seniors drifted into the effervescent spirit of the Christmas Dance.

With the new year came the dreaded epidemic of senioritis, but fierce anticipation of the approaching banquet and prom at the Mayo Hotel, Vespers at the First Presbyterian Church, and Commencement at the Civic Center remedied this and climaxed an unforgettable year.

'68 Year Is

Exuberant and refreshed, the Juniors returned to a full year of activities. Commencing with the Foreign Exchange Tea, the class was introduced to the AFS students. Attempting a completely new project, the Juniors then found creating and distributing Halloween dolls to the children at Hillcrest Hospital to be most rewarding. The annual Junior Breakfast was a gastronomical success. Combining talents for the first time, the Juniors and Sophomores sponsored Alice in Wonderland. Junior Western Day and the Junior Yearbook mixer completed a successful Junior year.

OFFICERS

President	Jerry Bob Lee
Vice-President	Chris B. Smith
Secretary	Marsha Gelwick
Treasurer	Houston Jameson
Social Chairman	Patty Tessier
Sponsor	Mr. Roger Smith

Here are the results of their efforts.

Capable leadership for the Class of '70 helped sophomores sponsor many successful school functions. Starting the year off with a mixer, the class then continued to support school activities by participating in Student Council's Candy Sale and Canned Goods Drive. The class play, given in March, and sponsored by both sophomores and juniors helped to boost funds in the class treasury. Other events such as Sophomore Day and the Mr. Irresistible Contest contributed to the year's success. Anticipating their junior year, sophomores held the Ice Cream Social to introduce the next year's officers. Creating a foundation for the year ahead, the class' first year in high school left memories.

Driver Education proves to be worthwhile as Janet Smith, Patsy Tripp, and Mr. Postier prepare for a drive down 41st in the afternoon traffic.

Ninth grade sponsor Mr. Rathjens advises Sherry Wasson.

Seeking Excellence,

Making the most of their final year in the junior high, the ninth graders plunged into a whirlwind of activities. The class of '71 provided unifying leadership and actively participated in various organizations. Eager to help their school through service clubs, ninth grade girls joined Aquillas, and the boys served in K-Club. The freshmen jointly sponsored the Valentine Dance with the eighth grade, which resulted in a happening. To end their successful year, the ninth graders generated enthusiasm throughout the school with the production of their first play.

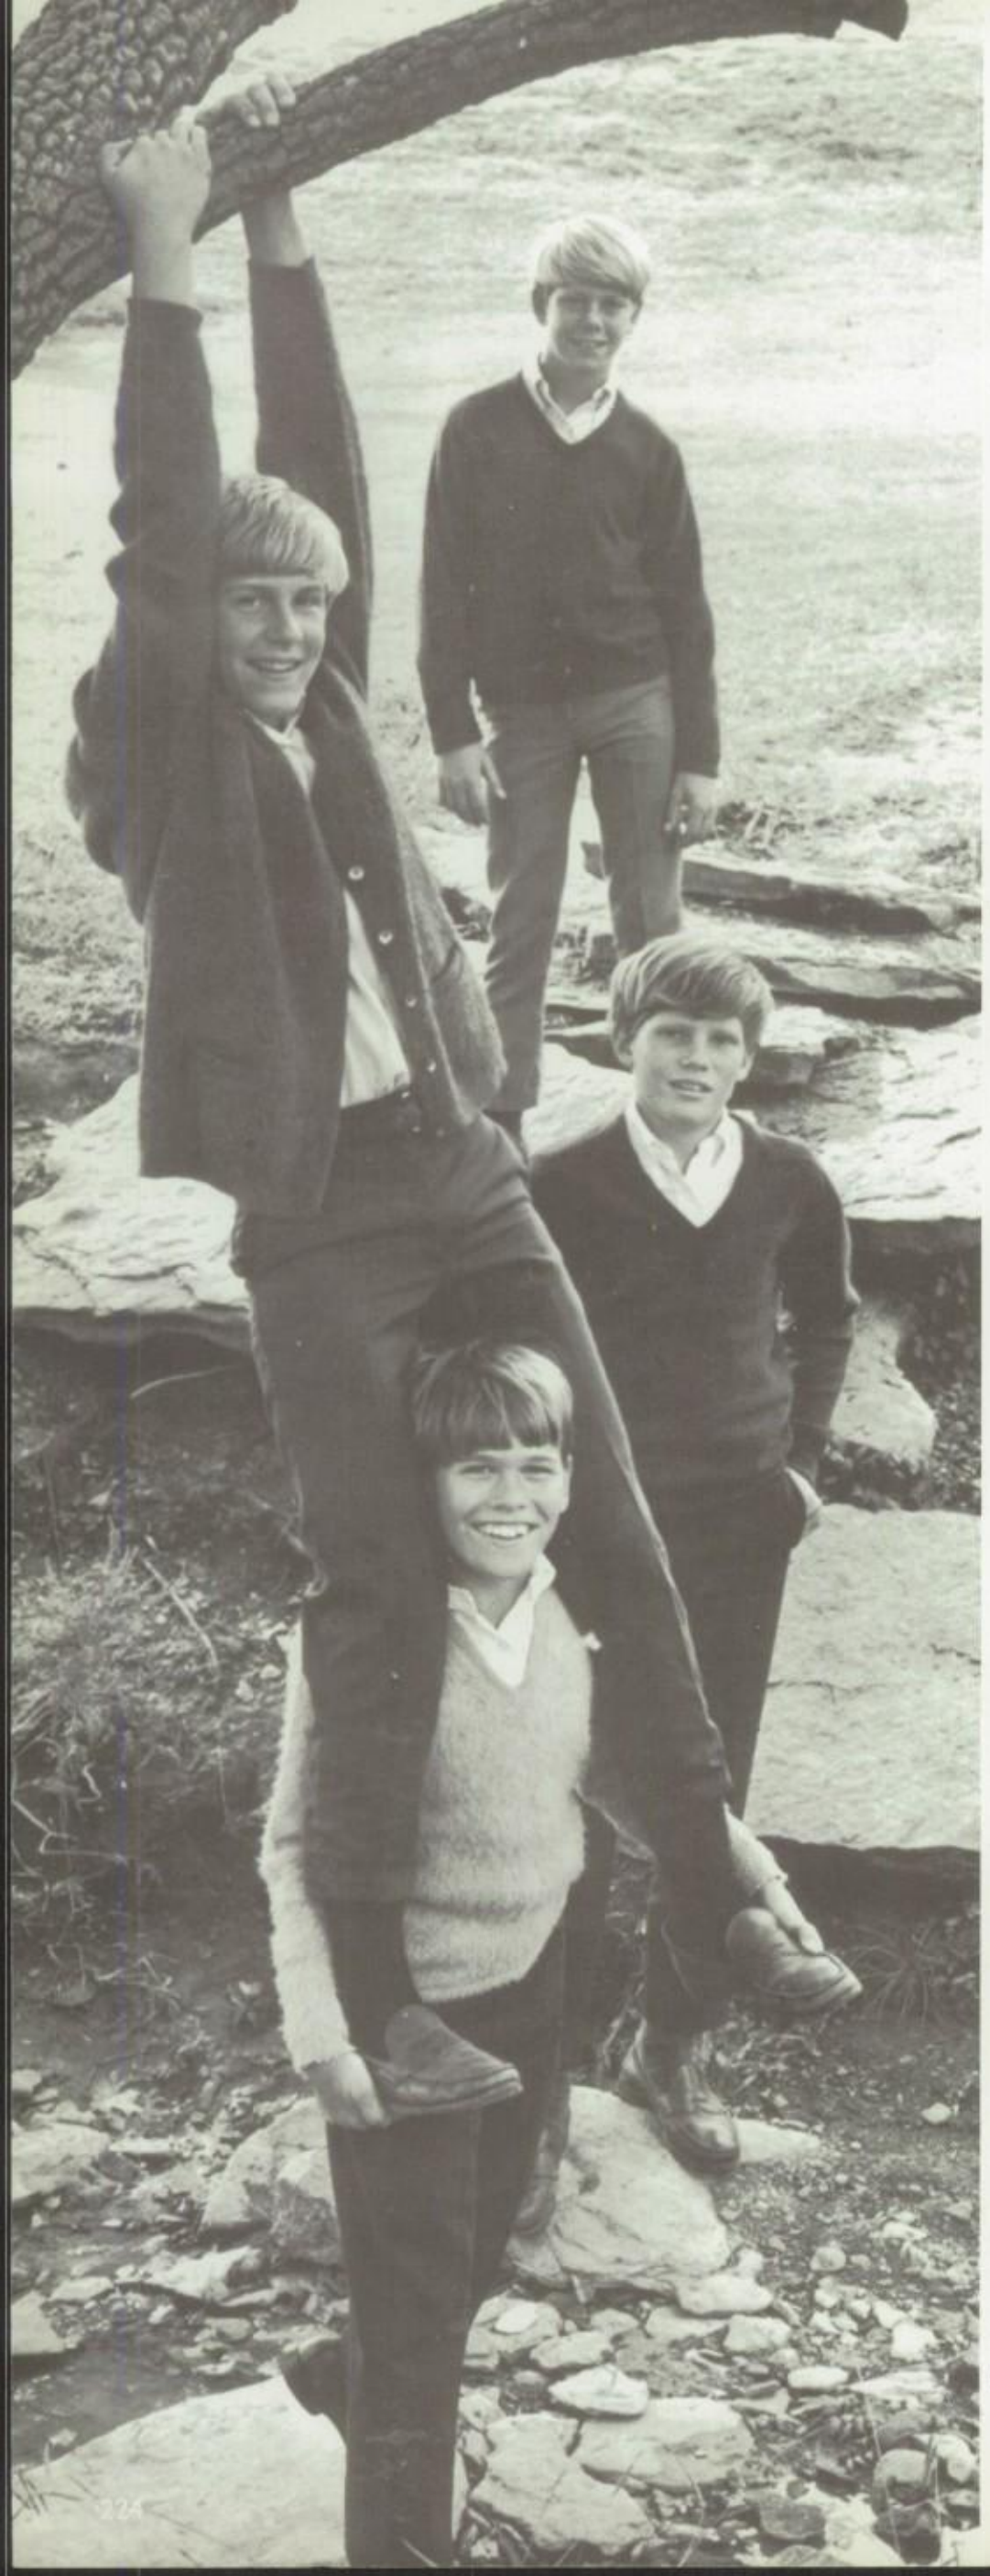
Now Freshmen Look Forward To Senior High



Mr. Glennis Miller checks his calendar of upcoming events.

Eighth Graders

Beginning another year at Edison, the eighth graders turned to masculine leadership with all boy officers. Working diligently on class projects, participation in an annual joint eighth and ninth grade class Valentine Dance proved to be a success. Under the guidance of Mr. Glennis Miller the officers and class attempted to surpass the goals of previous years.

Seventh Graders

"Getting to Know You" was the theme for this year's seventh graders. Coming from numerous Tulsa elementary schools, the seventh graders elected a board as their governing body. This board was composed of the presidents from each seventh grade homeroom. In this way, more students could take part in their class' government. Mrs. Zoe White, class sponsor, worked closely with Joe Burcham, chairman of the board, and the other board members in planning varied activities.

This year's board consisted of: Bill Boyer, Joe Burcham, Allen Grubb, Larry Hocking, Lisa Leikam, Lori Miller, Kevin O'Meila, Betsy Reed, Eileen Riggs, Paula Rodgers, Trudy Shafer, Cyndy Strickland, and Pam Tripp.

Because Edison is a changing school and its students are changing people, the 1968 TORCH is a changing yearbook. It is Edison's first nine by twelve inch yearbook, the size which was until recently restricted to college use. The book is printed on a heavy, low-gloss enameled paper. Headlines are in 24 point Lydian, a more readable style than used in previous years. Body type is in ten point Vogue, a style first used last year. The division pages are printed in art conversion, a technique new to Edison yearbooks. Most importantly, the layouts are more informal, the pictures are more interesting, and the copy is more readable.

Unfortunately, many organizations and individuals have not been able to understand the TORCH staff's attempt to produce a yearbook that is well-constructed but still interesting to the student body. The staff realizes that it was not easy for organizations to get their members to assemble at a certain place at a specific time, but neither was it easy for staff members to be prompt at every picture. The pictures were taken, however, and both the student body and the staff members have managed to survive.

There are, of course, innumerable people who are due thanks for their assistance in producing this yearbook. In particular, the staff would like to thank Lu and Jerry Carroll, the representatives from Taylor Publishing Company, and Eddie Davis, at Enterprise School Photos, who got our pictures to us in a hurry. We would also like to thank the student body for the support that they have given the staff in the production of this, the 1968 TORCH.

To A Nice Kid
who is in my history class and who is a pretty good guy I guess, hope you get lots of sleep during the summer.
G. W. Neal

George!
Its been a real gas being in your homeroom.
Don't get
Donna Davis
this summer
Steve
Buckish

George
Too bad we didn't have any classes together so we could raise. Don't kill yourself in your car unless I'm with you. John Addison

George!
you are the
biggest drunkard
I've ever known!
Stay that way!
I would like to see you next year on the football field! I have fun
this summer and all that

I really want
gotta to know you very well, but what I do know of you I think you a real lead. Be get good this summer. Doit ans on ya.
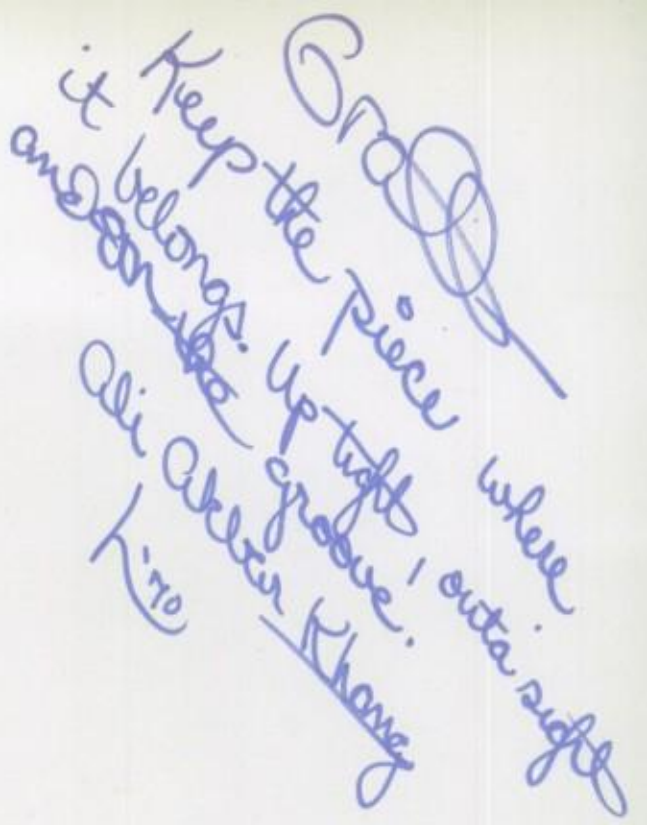
Barry



George –
Have a good summer –
good luck next year –
Bob Breck

Well Baby, (I mean it literally!)
What a mess. Why can't we ever stay on good terms?! I guess we both try to hard – Y/AH! I guess I can't blame you for feeling the way you do – but you'll never understand how you made Carol feel! Everything I wrote to her was in her best interest – but she obviously didn't understand that, because she let you read it. It mu seem that I'm two faced, but I run a close second with you. You know as well as I do I'd put up with anything from you – I always have Even tho' your a hard ass and a dumb
Sophomore you know I'll always love ya – and whenever you need a shoulder you know where to come!
Try to stay out of trouble & quit giving
Carol the run around!! Bye Punk,
Chris

George,
you monster, you! I really love you but I have to control my feelings because I know you love another girl. What does she have that I don't! Well (1. 2. 3. 4. 5. 6.) those are six reasons why she's better! Oh well you can't win everything. Have fun pledging Brook's & stay as nice as you were before. See ya next year! Rajah "69"

Howdy, Howdy. Why don't you learn how to drive your car. It sure is neat. Why don't you take me for a ride in it some time. I'll always remember the good times in Espanol. Congrads on getting in Bronco. It is really neat. Adios y Buena Suerte. Luv, Paco

GEORGE,
It's been a gas in Patton's - stakin' crap on him. Hope we'll have a few classes next year. Have fun with this summer

George,
Well I'm glad you were in my drafting class. You made it a little less boring
Judy Ricker 68

George
Been great causing trouble
in Miss Sankey.
Life is in the Right movement.
Take care of the Lotus
John

George,
Well, you an unreal tuff guy. I'm glad how got in Bronco Thats unreal cool. I'm really enjoyed getting to know you this year. I hope to see you summer. See you next year and I hope we will have some classes together

Big Ha,
Suzanne
Rajah 70"

Jorge de la Jungla,
I certainly am glad you sat behind me in Spanish(?) your continuous wit and witticisms (?!) gave me no rest. Certainly, continue your hard work and don't let anybody cheat off of you any more. Luck and all that rot.

Pablo.

GEORGE

YOU HAVE REALLY HELPED ME THIS YEAR:
(1) Helped me with my DRAFTING
(2) Let me see answers in History
(3) Taken me out to Lunch
(4) Have helped me spend my money
(5) Told ME OF YOUR LOVE AFFAIRS
(6) Have helped me to ~~get your~~ almost get your Watch by going to sleep.
(7) Have taught me to DRAW
(8) Helped me from STARVING with your pledge
(9) Helped me to get to sit in SHOT GUN box
(10) And have helped throwing ... on my back
